Chances for Repeating Last Year's Fairyland Christmas Reported Slim with Only 27 Percent Possibility of Snow

If you remember the gossamer fairyland that was Princeton last Christmas, you will want another "White Christmas" exactly like it. What are the possibilities?

"About 27 percent," says weatherman David Ludlum of Science Associates, brushing a flawless snowflake from his mitten.

In Atlantic City, where they really know the odds, the chances are only seven percent, Mr Ludlum says.

Last year, that dream-like white Christmas found about an inch and a half of white flakes on the ground Christmas morning. The previous year, about an inch fell on December 23, but it had melted by Christmas Day and Santa Claus had trouble with bare runners on bare ground.

The day after Christmas in 1976, Mr. Ludlum found, as he thumbed the Old Weatherman's Almanac, Princeton had six inches of snow. In 1969, Princeton just missed a big Christmas Day storm. It began to snow Christmas night, and by the end of the day on December 26, there were eight inches on the ground.

In Mr. Ludlum's date book, the biggest Christmas snow in Princeton was in 1966, when a Christmas Eve storm dropped ten inches on the town.

"Great sleigh-riding followed during the entire holiday week," he recalls, jingling a bell or two in happy recollection.

In 1963, the remains of a four-inch storm on the 23rd and 24th still lay on the ground

If you've lived here long enough—and Mr. Ludlum has—you may remember the sky on Christmas day, 1947, the ring around the moon that evening, and in the morning, one of the great snowstorms of the century. That's when New York City had 26 inches. Nobody seems to know the depth in Princeton.

Incidentally, last Christmas saw the most spectacular temperature descent "ever," Mr. Ludlum says. Northwest gales drove the thermometer from 32 in the morning, to zero at midnight, and a little below zero the next morning.

Collins' Garage Gets Final Approval; Financing Is Last Remaining Hurdle

That drive-in bank on the corner of John and Hulfish was a tough sticking-point, but the Planning Board finally, in a post-midnight vote Monday, approved Collins' Chamber Street garage proposals by an 8-1 vote. Sydney Taggart was the lone "no."

"I feel very strongly that the drive-in bank should not be in that location," Mrs. Taggart declared later. "Where was it on the plans we considered all last summer?

"I feel we're stuck with the bank on that corner," observed colleague Elizabeth Hutter, "It's the best of a bad situation."

"The drive-in is an integral part of our smooth operations down-town," Arthur P. Morgan told the board. He is executive vice-president of Princeton Bank and Trust. "This location is as viable a solution as you're likely to get."

The drive-in is now on Chambers, between Hulfish and Robeson. When Collins bought Palmer Square, it inherited the lease for the drive-in. Collins' lawyer, Thomas C. Jamieson, told the board that it expires in 14 years.

During a pair of four-hour meetings – last Wednesday and this Monday – the board squirmed and maneuvered and proposed and discarded, all in an attempt to work free of that drive-in.

On Wednesday, John Selecky, representing Eric Mihan, who owns the English Shop on the corner of Nassau and John, announced that Mr. Mihan had retained a planner who could bring, within ten days, a report on the effect of the drive-in on John and surrounding streets.

Mr. Mihan said he hadn't known earlier about the bank, but Bruce Schragger, the board's attorney for this case, said adequate notice had been given and the plans had been on file. The board turned down Mr. Mihan's request.

The planner, Lee Hobaugh, was present at the next meeting and Mr. Selecky tried again to have the report presented. Mr. Jamieson objected: the formal public hearing had been declared closed the preceding Wednesday, he pointed out. But Mr. Schragger said the board could re-open the public hearing for a ten-minute summary of the Hobaugh report.

It took Mr. Hobaugh nine minutes. Chiefly, he warned that any restrictions on truck deliveries to John Street back doors would be hard to enforce, egress from the street onto Hulfish would be a problem.

Board chairman Margen Penick organized the board's uncertainties: was it right for a private company's customers to queue on a public street? If the drive-in didn't work, how could it be moved? If deliveries are prohibited, won't trucks line Palmer Square West?

She asked postponement of the bank question, with study by a board committee of other places the drive-in might

Witherspoon Jackson Group Buys Houses On Shirley Court to Renovate and Re-Sell

Houses on Shirley Court, a brief and modest street intersecting with Witherspoon, roughly across from Maclean, have been purchased by the Witherspoon Jackson Development Corporation. Options for the purchase were signed December 11 by Penelope Carter, treasurer of the corporation, realtor Karl Light and owners Paul Harvey and Benjamin and Rose Kahn.

Purchase price will be $175,000 for each side of the short street, with a six-months purchase option During that period, the Kahns and Mr. Harvey will each receive a payment of $1,000 monthly.

The corporation will now explore methods of financing the initial purchase, and the cost of renovating the houses.

Witherspoon Jackson is a non-profit corporation that has been working quietly since late 1974 to acquire houses in the Witherspoon Street area for re-sale at moderate prices to black families

The corporation obtains money from wealthy private donors within the Princeton community Banks and savings and loan associations have also cooperated An earlier attempt to acquire the houses on Shirley Court was not successful.

The operating board of the corporation consists of Henry Pannell, chair; Joan Hill, president; Mrs. Carter,

One-Party Rule Set for Township Next Year, But Question of Who'll Be Mayor Still Undecided

Who will be the next mayor of the Township?

Under the state-approved organizational procedures for the township committee form of municipal government, the five duly elected members of a township committee select the mayor from among themselves. In Princeton Township it has been customary for the senior member of the party holding the majority of seats on Committee to be given the nod.

However, precedence is not of itself legally or morally binding and once broken no longer serves its former pattern-setting function. As 1981 draws to a close, the talk of the town - Township and Borough – is that the Township's mayoralty precedent may not hold this time around.

For the first time in recent memory, all five members of Committee will be of the same party. Two Republicans, Richard Schoch and Gail Firestone, were selected to take the seats being vacated by the lone Democrat, David Blair, and by Republican Josie Hall, who has served four years as Mayor. Mr. Schoch and Mrs. Firestone will be sworn in at noon on January 1 and as their first official act will take part in the election of the new mayor.

When Mayor Hall's second three year term expires at midnight December 31,

Pro-Garage Group Asks Court To Invalidate Election Results

The pro-garage group – Committee for the Heart of Princeton – has filed suit in Superior Court contesting the November 3 election in the Borough.

The suit asks the court to have the results of the election invalidated, and the affidavits now in the court's hands, plus additional affidavits, counted as votes cast in favor of the garage. The total of affidavits is about 100. This would apply solely in the Borough's District Six where there was a defective machine on election night.

An alternative relief is also proposed. Under this, the court would invalidate results pertaining to the vote tally in District Six. A special election would be held only in District Six, with only those persons allowed to vote who had voted on November 3.

A third route asks what other ruling the court believes would be "just and equitable." This could mean another Borough-wide election.

Pro-Garage Suit

Counsel James Britt said he did not expect a decision from the court until after January 1.

Last week, when the voting machine was inspected, it was found that corrosion on a crucial bar made a gear slip after the first person cast a "yes" vote for the garage. On election night, the machine showed only one "yes" vote. When the machine was inspected, and tested, it still showed "001".

Mayoral Selection

William Cherry will become the senior Republican member of Committee. Mr. Cherry ran unsuccessfully for Committee in 1976 and was narrowly elected for his first term in 1977 with a 59-vote margin over Democrat David Klein. Re-elected in 1980 with a comfortable 200-vote margin, he has served as deputy Mayor the past two years.

George Adriance, who was first elected to Committee in 1979 after losing his first attempt in 1978, is the second ranking Republican Committee member. Win Pike, finishing up his first full year on Committee after serving on the School Board for many years, is third. Presumably, as newcomers to Committee, Mr. Schoch and Mrs. Firestone are not seriously being considered for the mayor slot.

Mayor Hall, long a strong force in Township Republican politics, steadfastly maintains that she is not attempting to influence the selection process, but will leave it to the five who will form the new Committee in 1982.

Forced to withdraw from running for a third term by illness, Mrs. Hall has made it known that she is hoping to be named to the one-year term on the Planning Board being vacated by Jerry Rose. "I will hope to have some influence as a member of the Planning Board," she says, "particularly in the drafting of the conditional high density residential ordinance."

Mr. Cherry clearly expects that he will be named Mayor, but there are many people, in and out of official circles who have said, frequently with strong feeling, that they find him difficult to work with. They have often expressed the hope that Mr. Cherry will not be mayor.

One person closely involved with Township government referred to the mayoralty question as "very delicate." Others refuse to comment, saying that a decision has not been reached yet.

Although, as Mr. Cherry is keenly aware, the senior committee member of the majority party is normally chosen mayor, there was a time when precedent was declined. It was in 1977, when Elizabeth (Duffy) Hutter decided that for "compelling personal reasons" she would demur, thus paving the way for Mrs. Hall's election as the first woman mayor in the Township.

SENIOR CENTER COSTS

Borough Lays It On the Line. It will probably cost about $9,000 — $9,427 is the exact estimate — to run a Senior Citizens Center in the gym behind Borough Hall.

That monetary fact of life was explained to representatives of the Center at a meeting last week with Borough Council members and Mayor Robert W. Cawley.

"Considering our budget 'cap' problems, we wanted the seniors to realize the seriousness of adding that kind of money to the Borough budget," Ms. Hill continued. She said there will be another meeting in January.

In an explanatory memo to the seniors, Ms. Hill pointed out that if municipal salaries should increase by seven percent — "and we have no idea what that increase will actually be" — the increase would leave only $34,050 for all the other operating budget increases throughout the municipality. The state allows municipalities only a five percent increase — a 'cap' — in the operating budget.

Ms. Hill also showed club representatives that the Borough already spends $14,010 as its share of other senior citizen programs: $10,915 for the Crosstown-62 transportation service; $630 in recreation programming; $600 for the Commission on Aging which includes the telephone for the Senior Resource Center, a donation of $500 to that Center and $1,375 to the joint health department for visiting nurses and health screening programs.

Ms. Hill's operating expense figures for the gym show $3,500 a year for gas heat — a figure regarded with some concern by the seniors as an under-estimate — $1,872 for every-day janitorial work, a sum representing overtime for a Borough employee; $1,200 for major cleaning of windows and the like; $600 for water; $500 for maintenance supplies; $500 for snow and garbage removal for a total of $8,292.

Using the small, one-member Civil Rights office as a guide, Ms. Hill estimated $1,135 as the cost of running the office. Most of this money is assigned to telephone ($360) and insurance ($300).

Mercer County, which is contributing $50,000 for major repairs to roof and floors plus construction of ramps for the handicapped, requires that a Borough representative be in charge. It is expected that this will be Kathy West, of the Recreation Department staff.

E. Harvey Myers, Princeton architect, is putting together the specifications for repair of the building, Ms. Hill said. When the gym will be ready, depends on the bidding process.

Senior Citizen Club representatives at last week's meeting indicated that the club may undertake its own fund-raising efforts.

SQUAD GETS HELP And Offer of More.

"Everyone wants the Squad and appreciates its efforts — something will be worked out," assured Borough Council member Barbara Hill Monday, reporting on a new First Aid and Rescue Squad funding proposal which will be discussed in January.

Last Thursday, Council voted to guarantee part of the Squad's paramedic funding through March. The amount is about $3,000 — roughly $1,000 a month. The Township is expected to take similar action.

The proposal suggests an advisory committee which would advise the Squad on finances and help set up a budget. Operating and capital budgets would be submitted to Borough and Township for approval. All money raised by the Squad would be used first of all to meet the needs outlined in these approved budgets.

If anything is left over, it would go toward paying the paramedic daytime crew. The rest of the paramedic daytime budget would be met through contributions from Borough and Township on a rateables basis. That means the Township would contribute two-thirds and the Borough, one-third.

The proposal does not include any mention of fees that might be charged to people using the services of the Squad.

"That is not under consideration right now," Ms. Hill remarked.

For some time, members of the Squad have said they need expert help in accounting, bookkeeping and budgeting procedures. The Joint Advisory Committee would be formed to meet that expressed need.

The eight-member group would be composed of finance chairmen from Borough Council and Township Committee; both municipal administrators; a representative appointed by the Medical Center and three representatives from the Squad.

A professional, fund-raising brochure prepared by John Monteleone Associates has been sent to the Squad's mailing list this fall. It reports

290 Petition University

Some 290 Township residents have signed a petition urging Princeton University to drop its challenge of the Township on Master Plan ordinancing in the northwest section. Copies of the petitions were presented to Township Committee last Wednesday night.

In a covering letter addressed to R. Manning Brown Jr. as chairman of the Princeton University board of trustees, Dean W. Chace and George C. Easter, both University alumni and both residents of Drakes Corner Road, note that the cost of the litigation to both Princeton University and the Princeton taxpayer "is unconscionable." They point out that the Master Plan is "an accommodation to the environmentally sound development of the northwest region" and that "the recently enacted Cluster Ordinance will enable the University to build only about 10 less units of housing than under the previous zoning law."

To date, the University has not responded.

a 35 percent increase in insurance costs and a 65 percent increase in the amount it takes to operate an ambulance (gas, tires, maintenance, etc.).

Last year, the Squad's biggest expense was $7,284.93 for 10 voice pagers to summon Squad members in emergencies and help them keep in touch. The Squad hopes to buy more next year.

The financial statement shows operating expenses of $65,293 — the figure includes $17,825 for equipment acquisition — compared to $95,845 for 1980, when the Squad lists unitemized equipment acquistions amounting to $52,122.

Fund-raising, presumably including the cost of the brochure and postage, was budgeted at $6,005.

In the year ending July 31, 1981, the Squad received $85,083 in revenue, compared to $79,719 the year before. The fund drive for the year ending July 31, 1981, brought in $62,428, compared to $48,150 the year before. Investment income was $191, compared to $488 in 1980.

The proposal was submitted by Richard Macgill, and Ms. Hill of Borough Council and Borough Administrator Mark Gordon; George Adriance and William Cherry for Township Committee and Township Administrator Joseph R. Nini.

TO WITHDRAW SUIT

Tax Revolt Group. The Tax Revolt Committee, believing that "we forced the Borough to make great concessions in lowering assessments," and lacking the money to continue, has filed papers to withdraw its suit against Borough and Township officials.

An additional $8,000 for a full-scale survey by the group, reviewing the assessments of the P.R.C. Jacobs firm, whose revaluations the Committee has challenged.

Last week Borough Mayor Robert W. Cawley said he hoped the suit was not withdrawn because he wanted to see the Borough vindicated by the courts.

"If he wanted that, he could have moved for summary judgement right at the beginning," said Martin P. Lombardo, Committee co-chairman. "Instead, the Borough wanted to make sure Robson (tax assessor Stuart Robson Jr.) went back to inspect houses first. This sabotaged our effort. Besides, the Borough attorney benefits financially if the case continues."

Mayor Cawley told reporters Monday that the charge of "sahotage" is "laughable." He added that any statement from the Committee retracting their charge of favoritism against municipal officials, is not likely. He had said last week that the Borough wants such a retraction.

In order to continue the suit, the mayor said, the Borough itself would have to take legal action against the Tax Revolt Committee, and it does not plan to do this.

In early January, Mr. Lombardo said, the Committee will hold another public meeting showing tax-payers who missed the 1981 appeal deadline, how to file an appeal.

Mr. Lombardo said the revaluation was "gross unfairness, and the town has done nothing about it. Our fight will go on."

HOME IS RANSACKED

Two Juveniles Charged. Two days after a home at 144 Hickory Court was entered and ransacked, two 14-year-old Township youths were charged with the crime.

The two were charged by Township Juvenile Officer Jerry Offredo with burglary and theft and criminal mischief. They were released to their parents, pending further action by a Mercer County juvenile court.

Det. Offredo reported that the home had been entered by breaking a window in a downstairs bathroom. Taken, he said, was $5 and $6 in change. The youths were charged with malicious mischief when they ripped a door off and damaged a home-made corner cupboard during their search of the house.

Ptl. Virgil conducted the initial investigation. The arrests followed as a result of a follow-up by Det. Offredo.

Two IBM typewriters were reported stolen Monday from a locked office in Williamson Hall at the Westminster Choir College.

Police report that there was no forced entry. They are waiting to receive a value on the missing machines.

MORE VANDALISM

To Parked Cars. "Somebody's going around here raising hell," commented Chief Frederick Porter, after he reported more vandalism again last week, to parked cars, three in Princeton Community Village lots.

A Tupelo Row resident told police that she had looked out her window and noticed that the lights of her car, parked in a nearby lot, were on. In checking, she found snow inside and discovered that the car's turn signal lever and windshield wipers were bent and its antenna broken.

The wipers and outside mirror were damaged and the antenna broken off a car of a Greenbriar Row resident while it was parked between 10 a.m. and 9:30 a.m. the next day in the upper lot on Greenbrier Row.

Early Sunday morning, a Holly House resident called to report knife cuts across the vinyl top of his car parked in the Holly House lot. Two radio antennas and a wiper arm were also bent.

The side view mirror was broken off and the windshield was cracked of a Port Washington, N.Y. resident while it was parked between 4:30 Saturday afternoon and 9 a.m. Sunday on Pardoe Road.

TWO CARS "TOTALLED"

In Three-Car Crash. Two cars were a total loss and a driver and his passenger were injured early last week in a three-car collision at Harrison Street and Prospect Avenue.

Victor Ordonez, 34, of Morrisville, Pa., was taken by ambulance to Princeton Medical Center where he received numerous sutures to close head contusions and lacerations. His passenger, Maria Ordonez, 26, was treated for bruises of the left shoulder. Both were later released.

According to Ptl. Chris Boutote, Mr. Ordonez, traveling west on Prospect, continued through the intersection of Harrison Road without stopping for a red light. He was issued a summons for the violation.

The Ordonez car was struck by a pickup truck driven by Eduardus Goossen, 59, 223 Mt. Lucas Avenue, which was going north on Harrison. The

McCarter and Ballet Society Are Pleased With Response to Co-Operative Benefit

Just how much the Sugar Plum Fairy brought in the way of sweetmeats won't be known until all the bills are in, but McCarter Theatre is pleased about Friday night's gala benefit for the theatre and the Princeton Ballet Society. It was opening night of the annual presentation of "The Nutcracker," with two guest dancers from the New York City Ballet, plus a festive reception at Scanticon.

The house was "close to full," according to Pamela Sherin, development associate for the theatre. If you went to the Scanticon reception after the performance, your ticket was $75. If you just watched the ballet, it was $25. Over two dozen paid $150 to be listed as "sponsors" in the program.

Scanticon donated its reception rooms, all the food — everything, except the liquor, which will be divided as an expense by McCarter and the Princeton Ballet Society. The two organizations will share all expenses and divide the profits, fifty-fifty.

"It was a co-operative effort between the Ballet Society and the theatre and the party was a collaboration with both of us and Scanticon," Ms. Sherin said.

Paper for invitations and programs was donated by the Central Paper Company and printing was donated by Minute Press. Expenses include the liquor bill, fees for dancers Darci Kistler and Peter Martins of the New York City Ballet — who danced the roles of the Sugar Plum Fairy and her Cavalier — and the expenses of getting them from New York to Princeton, the cost of a special rehearsal Friday afternoon for the two guest artists and the company.

McCarter and the Ballet Society had to "sell" this benefit, in contrast to the Pavarotti benefit which was initially sold completely to McCarter Associates, who then sold tickets for a quickly sold-out house.

News Of The THEATRES

"The Nutcracker," in contrast, is a well-loved perennial, on view in Princeton every year.

"It's often a child's first introduction to the theatre," Ms. Sherin remarked, "and parents and grand-parents take children to see it with this in mind."

"The Nutcracker" gala benefit was sold, Ms. Sherin believes, by supporters of both McCarter and the Ballet Society who gave numerous private dinner parties before the performance.

"These parties carried the ball in selling our $75 seats," she said. "Most of the people who gave parties are on the boards of either the Ballet Society or of McCarter."

All planning was joint planning, done by a board whose two co-chairmen represented both organizations and by a joint committee representing both groups. Both the ballet and theatre staffs worked together also. And as a kind of community symbol, the two mayors were honorary chairmen.

COMEDY, FOR '82

"Keystone." A cast of 11, count 'em, singers and dancers not one of whom has ever before performed at McCarter Theatre, has been assembled for "Keystone," a musical about the heyday of silent screen comedy. It will open 1982 for the McCarter Theatre Company, under the direction of Nagle Jackson, and is the third of the five plays in the 1981-82 season. Opening night is January 15.

Hummable ragtime, says Mr. Jackson. The strut of the score by Lance Mulcahy, says Mr. Jackson. "It stays with you," says Mr. Jackson.

John McKellar, who wrote the book and collaborated with Dion McGregor on the lyrics, says "Keystone" is a mirror of "the youth, the enthusiasm, the work, the zany fun and above all, the innocence of those great times when America first started going to the movies for a nickel at a time."

Actors will portray Charlie Chaplin, Chester Conklin, Mable Normand and Mack Sennett. Three of the actors played in the premiere of "Keystone" — held in March, 1980, at the GeVa Theatre in Rochester, New York. In fact, most of the cast will play several roles. Perhaps even simultaneously.

McCARTER HONORED

For Helping Disabled. A Certificate of Merit has been presented to McCarter Theatre from the New Jersey Advisory Council to the International Year of Disabled Persons, in recognition of the theatre's contribution to projects for the disabled.

John J. Horn, chairman, and Richard J. Bernard, executive director, of the 1981 New Jersey Advisory Council, made the presentation December 13 at a Participation Celebration held at Merck & Company in Rahway.

The New Jersey Advisory Council was organized after the United Nations declared 1981 the International Year of Disabled Persons. The Council sponsored two conferences where the disabled analyzed their status, and recommended action. There was also a nationwide art exhibit.

McCarter has presented several theatrical performances "signed" for hard of hearing persons. The theatre has also arranged special lavatory facilities for the disabled and various ways in which parking and access to the theatre can be accomplished with greater ease.

LIVE AND FUN!

Music, Puppets Dance. Victor Herbert's musical, "Babes in Toyland," adapted from the original 1903 Broadway production and updated for excitement and entertainment, will be given a live performance Monday at 11 a.m. and 1 p.m. at the New Jersey State Museum in Trenton. Admission to this and other productions is $3.

Library Closed for Holiday

Princeton Public Library will be closed for the long Christmas and New Year weekends. The Library will close this Thursday and Thursday, December 31, at 12:30 p.m. and remain closed all day on Friday, Saturday and Sunday, December 25, 26, 27, and January 1, 2, 3.

Books and other materials may be returned through the two bookdrops adjacent to the library entrance whenever the building is closed.

Next Tuesday at the same hours, the Museum will present Jack Hill who will perform as mime, magician and ventriloquist. A former student of Marcel Marceau, Hill sometimes breaks the silence of traditional mime to demonstrate tricks in the arts of magic and ventriloquism.

"Gotta Dance!", scheduled for Wednesday at the same times, traces the history of dancing, beginning with primitive rituals, ethnic dances and classic ballet and demonstrating the Charleston, jitterbug and contemporary disco. Members of the Performing Arts Repertory Theatre will perform, and Broadway star Gwen Verdon provides the taped narration.

The Pegasus Puppets will tell the story of "Gulliver's Travels" next Thursday, December 31, again at 11 and 1. The puppets, ranging in size from 18 inches to a full eight feet, will trace Gulliver's adventures in the realms of Lilliput and Brobdingnag.

The Princeton Chapter of the National Association of Accountants, in conjunction with the Accountants for the Public Interest, is sponsoring a four-day seminar entitled "How to Keep a Non-Profit Organization's Books."

The sessions will be held on four consecutive Mondays, January 11, 18, and 25 and February 1, at Rider College, Lawrenceville. Robert Geer of the Princeton Chapter will moderate the seminar. James Billups, Edward J. Flynn, Robert S. Esposito, Eldrid Truelove and Catherine Sutherland, all members of the Princeton Chapter, will lead the sessions.

For reservations or additional information call Neil A. Van Arsdale, Socio-Economic Director, 896-2100, or Robert Geer, Professional Development Director, 921-6220.

The Amateur Astronomers' Association of Princeton (AAAP) will hold its monthly meeting on Tuesday, January 12, at 8 in Princeton University's Peyton Hall.

Dr. John Lowrance will discuss electro-optical sensors, techniques to improve the contrast of very faint astronomical objects in both ground and space-borne telescope systems. Dr. Lowrance is the head of the Electro-optical section of the Astrophysical Sciences Department, at Princeton University. The meeting is open to the public.

The Association holds monthly educational meetings on the second Tuesday of every month in Peyton Hall, on Ivy Lane. In addition, public observing sessions are held each clear Friday during the spring and fall at the AAAP Observatory in Washington Crossing State Park.

CLOWN SHOW SET

In South Brunswick. The South Brunswick Public Library and the Cultural Arts Commission will present a holiday program at the library on Tuesday, December 29, at 7:30.

Peterhoff's One Clown Circus will present a show that is a blend of clown antics, music, mime, magic, acrobatics, and juggling. There will also be audience participation.

Since 1973 clown Peterhoff has performed regularly in theatres, schools and clubs across North America and Europe. His current solo show premiered in New York City in November, 1979, and has toured throughout the country since that time. Since 1978 Mr. Peterhoff has served on the faculty of Adelphi University's School of the Performing Arts where he both instructs and directs the Adelphi Mime Theatre.

This program is free and open to the public. For further information call the library at (201) 821-8224.

Our once-a-year sale. If you miss it, you'll have to wait until 1983.

From December 26 to January 31 practically everything is 10% to 40% off regular prices.

Here it is. The stupendous furniture sale you've been waiting for the whole year. The once-a-year sale when we mark down practically everything in the whole store from 10% to 40%.

What's everything? Our regular stuff. You see, we don't bring in so called specials or stock up on things that no one wants at regular prices the way a lot of other places do. Instead we take our best stuff—and that includes our butcher block tables, upholstery, storage systems, music benches, desks, bedrooms, chairs and marvelous accessories.

Our versatile bar cart in solid oak has a drop leaf on either end, and opens to a full 49¾". Perfect as a cutting board, server and rolling bar. Limited quantities.

Of course, there are some things, like brand new items and stuff that's oversold, that we don't put on sale. (But then no one is totally perfect.) But, what is on sale is amazing. So don't miss out. Because, to the best of our knowledge (and we've done a lot of checking), we're the only furniture store we know that has only one storewide sale a year. Which means if you miss it, you'll have to wait all the way until 1983 to get bargains like these again. And by 1983, who knows where prices will be.

Beginning January 1st

Tax Shelter Up To $2,000 A Year With Princeton Savings' New IRA

Working Couples Can Put Aside $4,000 A Year. . .Even If They're Already Covered By A Retirement Plan

Starting January 1, you can open your own personal IRA at Princeton Savings even if you're already covered by a pension, profit sharing or other retirement plan. That means a nice savings on taxes right now—an even nicer nest egg later on.

Under the new tax law, you will be able to invest up to $2,000 in an Individual Retirement Account (up to $4,000 for a working couple) and deduct that amount from your gross yearly income. A couple, filing jointly, only one of whom works, can invest up to $2,250. Plus you'll earn interest on your IRA and not pay taxes on this interest income until you begin withdrawing money after age 59½.

A Tax Shelter With A Double Tax Break
If a married, working couple in the 40% tax bracket invests $4,000 ($2,000 each) in a Princeton Savings IRA, they would pay $1,600 less in taxes that year. Even more attractive, however, is the interest that starts accruing, tax free, from the day you invest.

A Nice Little Nest Egg Worth Millions
Although exact interest rates have yet to be determined, this example shows how fast your savings can grow. At a fixed 12% annual rate, compounded daily, a deposit of $2,000 a year for 30 years would be worth over $650,000. Over $1.3 million for a working couple.

In addition, no federal income tax is paid on either principle or interest until you begin withdrawing any time after age 59½. But payments must start at age 70½ when, presumably, you'll be in a lower tax bracket.

As Always, Get Straight Talk From Princeton Savings
Smart investing requires caution and now, more than ever, the counsel of knowledgeable people. Stop in at any Princeton Savings office and get full details on the new IRA scheduled to take effect January 1, 1982.

It's available to every employed individual, even those already covered by a retirement plan. The new IRA from Princeton Savings—a great way to build a nest egg for the future—without taxing your pocketbook.

SEE HOW MUCH YOU'LL SAVE TAX FREE UNTIL YOU WITHDRAW.

If you save this much each year:	You'll have this much saved at 65 — If your present age is: 25	30	35	40	45	50	55	60
$120	$144,230	$78,684	$42,708	$22,962	$12,124	$6,175	$2,910	$1,118
$300	360,576	196,711	106,770	57,405	30,311	15,439	7,277	2,797
$600	721,155	393,423	213,542	114,812	60,622	30,619	14,554	5,594
$1,200	1,442,307	786,845	427,084	229,623	121,244	61,755	29,109	11,166
$2,000	2,403,847	1,311,409	711,807	382,706	202,074	102,931	48,515	18,648
$2,250	2,704,327	1,475,334	800,782	430,544	227,333	115,797	54,579	20,978

The above yearly amounts deposited into a Princeton Savings' IRA will have accumulated the amount listed at age 65, assuming a 12% interest factor. (The interest rate could be higher or lower depending on market conditions.)

Federal regulations require substantial penalties for early withdrawal of certificate accounts.

Drop Law Suit?

(Editor's note:) The following letter was written by Township Mayor Josie Hall to R. Manning Brown Jr., president of the board of trustees of Princeton University.)

"I was recently asked by the Princeton University Art Museum to write a letter to the Nationel Endowment for the Arts in support of a much needed challenge grant for the Princeton University Art Museum.

"I wrote the letter with mixed feelings — not because I do not support the Art Museum. In fact, the Art Museum, along with McCarter Theatre, is a prime cultural asset to this community.

"The mixed feelings result from the fact that I know that Princeton University must raise funds to match this grant. While the University is out raising funds for other causes it is simultaneously engaged in what must be a very expensive lawsuit filed against the Regional Planning Board and the Princeton Township Committee. There was perhaps justification for this lawsuit when the zoning on the Ridge was changed. However, since July the Township has had a cluster ordinance which gives the University within ten units of buildable housing that they would have had under the upgraded zoning change.

"Both the University and the Township taxpayers are now unnecessarily paying for this expensive litigation. I would urge you to drop the litigation and put the money to better use such as part of the Uoiversity's share of the grant application for improvement of the Art Museum."

JOSEPHINE H. HALL
Mayor.

RR Show Raises $55,000.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Just a note of appreciation for your support in publicizing the Pacific Southern Railway Company's 18th Annual Christmas Model Rail Exhibition which took place the first two weekends of December 1981.

Thanks to effective coverage given by the various news media, we easily exceeded our goal of more than $55,000 in total cumulative contributions to charitable causes over the past 18 years. Well over 3,000 visitors attended our show this year even exceeding the excellent response to last year's show.

On behalf of the Pacific Southern Railway Company and the recipients of this year's show proceeds, the Rocky Hill Volunteer Fire and Aid Companies, I extend our sincerest thanks for your kind help.

J.A.C. KRULISH
Publicity Chairman

Thanks, Ptl. Angelini.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

We would like to express our appreciation to Patrolman Virgil M. Angelini of the Princeton Township Police Department.

He responded promptly to our call for aid in a recent emergency, and was able to help us in e most conscientious, efficient and persevering manner. Our sincere thanks.

impact forced the Ordonez sedan into a public service pole, pinning it against the pole.

The Goossen truck then continued on across the intersection into the south bound lane of Harrison where it struck the front end of a car operated by Ruth C. Bonin of 80 Robert Road, which was stopped, waiting in line to turn onto Prospect. Both the Ordonez and Goossen vehicles sustained damages described as total. The Bonin car also had to be towed from the scene.

A truck from the Hook & Ladder fire company on Harrison road was called to wash down the accident scene, after the gas tank on the Ordonez car ruptured during the collision.

DRIVER FINED $215

For Driving on Revoked List. In Township traffic court last week, Judge Sydney Souter fined Donald B. Tadlock, 29 Green Street, $215 for driving while on a revoked license list. Mr. Tadlock was also fined $40 for speeding.

Others paying speeding fines were Dan A. Druz, 375 Nassau Street, $50; David P. Whitney, 10 Honey Brook Drive, $45, and Peter V. Roberts Jr., East Amwell Township, $35. Christopher Ball, 30 Morningside Drive, Pennington, and Henry T. Fallon, 9 Grandview Avenue, Lawrenceville, each paid $25 for passing a stopped school bus.

Anna W. Clark, 81 Harris Road, was fined $40 for careless driving and $10 for failing to appear for five previously scheduled court dates. Judge Souter ordered her license suspended, pending a re-examination by the motor vehicle department.

In criminal court, James R. Sullivan, 20 Woodland Drive, was fined $165 for passing a bad check to his landlord. He also received a 15-day suspended sentence to the Mercer County Correction Center and six months supervised probation.

Borough Court. In Borough traffic court Monday, Judge Russell W. Annich Jr. fined Brian A. Clancy, 90 Olden Lane, $225 and suspended his license for 60 days for drunken driving. Mr. Clancy also paid $115 for leaving the scene of an accident.

Thais S. Costa, 341 Witherspoon Street, and Eta M. Gershen, 60 Philip Drive, paid $35 and $20 respectively for red light violations. Careless driving cost James J. Lennon, 151 Longview Drive, $30.

Others: Jonathan R. Rabb, 293 Hartley Avenue, $31 speeding; Sandford Eisenhandler, 79 Princeton-Hightstown Road, Princeton Junction, $25, improper turn; William C. Louis, 62 Western Way, $15, no license or registration in possession, and Mary C. Scarlata, 436 Mt. Lucas Road, Steven D. Huber, 7 Greenview Avenue, and David C. Garretson, 94 Fairway Drive, all $15 for inspection violations.

MEETING PLANNED

By Transit Users Group. Preservation and improvement of local bus and rail service will be discussed at a public meeting of the Transit Users Group (TUG) on Monday at 7:30 at Morris Hall Home for the Aged on Route 206 in Lawrenceville.

The meeting is open to all interested bus and train riders. Coffee will be served. The Group will set goals for the coming year, plan for a membership drive and elect a coordinator.

TUG, organized by citizens distressed by fare increases and service cutbacks during the past year and a half, is seeking to broaden its base in 1982 as transit services suffer the affects of budget-cutting measures on federal, state and county levels.

VOLUNTEERS SOUGHT

By Twin W Squad. The Twin W First Aid and Rescue Squad is a volunteer Squad providing volunteer squad providing emergency first aid services to West Windsor Township. Its members and ambulances are available 24 hours a day, seven days week to aid the sick and injured.

In order to serve its community, the Twin W Squad must have an adequate membership to man its ambulances. The Squad is seeking more volunteers, particularly active members who are trained in first aid care.

To be an active member, a man or woman must be at least 18 and must take free, required first aid courses in cardio-pulmonary resuscitation, emergency childbirth, light rescue and extrication, defensive driving and advanced first aid. A course that will enable volunteers to fulfill these qualifications is scheduled to start in mid-January.

Active members are asked to be on call a specified number of hours each week to respond to first aid requests. Many West Windsor businesses participate by allowing employees to respond from their places of work. The Twin W provides its members with training, uniforms and radio pagers.

The Squad also seeks cadets and associate members. With proper training and supervision by senior members, a cadet between the ages of 16 and 18 provides the same first aid care as an active member. A junior cadet, between 14 and 16, is a cadet-in-training, learning first aid skills and taking first aid courses preparatory to reaching senior cadet status.

Associate members provide a support function for the Squad by assisting with clerical, housing and fund-raising tasks.

Those who are interested in becoming members of the Twin W First Aid Squad are asked to telephone Jack Forman at 799-0639 or Barrie Summers at 799-1810.

The Squad also seeks financial support. Those who have not made a contribution to Twin W during 1981 are invited to send a check to the Squad at P.O. Box 385, Princeton Junction, 08550.

THEFT REPORT

Cars, Batteries Are Targets. Parked cars and car batteries continue to be high on the Christmas list of thieves.

An AM-FM radio-cassette player and two speakers valued at $310 and a cassette tape holder with 40 tapes valued at $330 were stolen last week from the unlocked car of a Belle Mead resident while it was parked between 2:15 and 6 p.m. at the Princeton Shopping Center.

Four more batteries were stolen, two from cars parked in the Princeton Day School lot. Both were valued at $50. Police said that the victims lived on Quaker Road and Rollingmead. A Titusville resident listed the theft of a $65 battery the same day from his car parked in the lot adjacent to the Somerset Farms store on Route 206 near Cherry Hill Road.

Borough police report a $70 battery taken Friday from a car parked in the Trinity Church yard. The victim is a Trenton resident.

An AM-FM cassette deck valued at $240 was removed from a car parked in a driveway on Charlton Street — police recieved the report on Monday — and a bank book was taken from the glove compartment of the car of a Princeton resident which was parked near the Coin Wash behind Viking Furniture, 259 Nassau Street.

A $400 stereo-radio cassette and $25 in coins were taken from a dresser in Holly House. The victim told police Thursday that he noticed the theft after he had entertained a few guests.

An employee at Epstein's store in the Princeton Shopping Center became a theft victim last week when someone took her purse containing $100 from her office desk. It was later found outside the store minus the money.

In another theft at the shopping center, a case of C batteries worth $101.92 was shoplifted Monday afternoon from the Thrift Drug Store. When the red-bearded suspect was pursued and confronted by the store manager, he surrendered the batteries, jumped into a white Ford and fled the scene.

There were two victims in an apartment building on Witherspoon Street which was entered last week without force. Taken from a bedroom desk of one victim was $200 and a pewter crucifix valued at $20; the second victim lost a blue, cats-eye ring in a silver setting worth $65 and a gold pin.

Two men about 20 years old are suspects in the chain saw theft last week of a 10-foot spruce tree, which was cut down from in front of Peterson's Guides on Bunn Drive; and an unlocked bicycle valued at $130 was taken from an unlocked shed on Hamilton Avenue.

Hoagie Heist. Someone walked in to Greasy Tony's, 157 Witherspoon Street, Saturday and ordered a turkey hoagie. When the hoagie was placed on the counter top, the suspect grabbed it and left without paying the $1.91 bill.

Det. William Clark is investigating. Police report that they expect to make a charge soon.

GROUP AT 70 PERCENT

Of United Way Goal. The 10 professional groups - including doctors, attorneys and accountants - that are solicited by the United Way - Red Cross Campaign of the Princeton Area Communities are slowly inching up toward their goals, according to JoAnn Crandall, the volunteer leader of the professional division.

This division solicits accountants, social service agencies, architects, attorneys, clergy, dentists, funeral directors, doctors, real estate agencies and insurance companies.

"The division now stands at nearly 70 percent of its $29,540 goal, which means there is still a long stretch ahead of us," said Mrs. Crandall. "We still need generous contributions from those professionals who have not yet contributed if we are to make our goal."

As of this time, the insurance agencies have exceeded their goal, and accountants, social service agencies, attorneys, clergy, funeral directors and doctors have crossed the halfway mark.

Each sub division is solicited by the following volunteers: Len Smith, of Withum, Smith and Brown: accountants; Judith Hastings, Princeton YWCA: agencies; Kester R. Pierson: Mason,

HEAVY SNOW FALLS

So Do Wires and Trees. The heavy snow that fell early last Wednesday morning brought tree limbs and wires down in the Township and spawned a few skidding mishaps.

At 1:54, a car slid off Princeton-Kingston Road near Shady Brook Lane and a tractor trailer truck skidded into the opposite lane around 2:20 as it descended Bruere's Hill on Route 206 coming into Princeton.

Police report power lines down on Lawrenceville Road and Wheatsheaf Lane, and trees down on S. Harrison by the bridge, Mt. Lucas at Herrontown and Snowden Lane.

At 8:39, a car skidded into another car on Princeton-Kingston Road near Dodds Lane. A half-hour later, Steven E. Lederman of 205 Nassau, skidded on snow-covered Princeton-Kingston Road near Riverside Drive. His car left the roadway, struck a utility pole and three pieces of shrubbery before coming to rest in the center of the lawn at 697 Princeton-Kingston Road. About 50 feet of lawn was also damaged, police said.

AWARD CEREMONY SET

For Four Girl Scouts. Four senior Girl Scouts from Troop 1138 will receive the Girl Scout Gold Award in a ceremony Saturday, January 2 at 8 at the Lutheran Church of the Messiah, 407 Nassau Street. The Honorable Millicent Fenwick, congresswoman from the 5th congressional district, will present the awards.

The four, D'Maris Amick, Julia Bolick, Mollie Fisher and Karen Schleyer, are the first in the Delaware-Raritan Girl Scout Council to receive the new award. Designed as the highest award in Girl Scouting, the Gold Award Program is designed to challenge the high school-age Girl Scout to excel in leadership, service and self-development.

Miss Amick, one of the original members of the troop from second grade Brownie days, is now attending Smith College. She was co-president of her Senior troop and has donated innumerable hours to Recording for the Blind, helping to make copies of the Miss Bolick, whose mother, Anne Bolick, is adviser to Troop 1138, is also an original member of the troop. Miss Bolick, who will attend the University of New Hampshire in January, was president and secretary of the troop and treasurer of the American Field Service Club. She was a First Class Cadette and was chosen for the Wildlife Trails and Trails Wider Opportunity at National Center West. As part of her community service commitment, she worked with her troop restoring five miles of trail in an area park for the Mercer County Park system.

Miss Fisher served as president of the Delaware-Raritan Girl Scout Council's Senior Planning Board and is currently a student at Ohio Wesleyan University. She was chosen for a wider opportunity sponsored by the San Diego-Imperial Girl Scout Council. As part of her community service, Miss Fisher helped her troop organize a blood drive at Princeton High School, working with the director of volunteer services at the Princeton Medical Center and the assistant principal at the high school.

Miss Schleyer, now a student at Princeton University, served as president of her troop, vice president of the German Club and treasurer of the French Club. During summers, she has worked for the Princeton Street Theater, conducting interviews, hiring the staff, building the budget and implementing the program.

Family and friends of the troop, as well as members of the board of trustees of the Delaware-Raritan Girl Scout Council, will partake of a pot luck supper before the ceremony.

CAMPAIGN LAUNCHED

On Drinking and Driving. Mercer County Executive Bill Mathesius has launched the "Slow on the Bottle, Enjoy the Road, SOBER" campaign in Mercer County by declaring December "Alcohol Awareness Month."

Mr. Mathesius issued a proclamation to that effect to Walter Wenczel, president of the board of trustees of the Mercer Council on Alcoholism. Present at the ceremony were Maryann McKee, chief of the Mercer County Drug, Alcohol and Youth Programs, and Kay McGrath, executive director of the Council.

Sponsored by the Mercer Council on Alcoholism with the cooperation of Mercer County government, Project SOBER is a public information campaign designed to reduce the number of alcohol-related accidents on the roads in Mercer County by increasing the awareness of the risks of drinking and driving. Not an anti-drinking campaign, SOBER is rather an effort to make people better aware of the responsibilities an individual assumes when he or she drinks and drives.

FREE COFFEE

On Turnpike New Year's Eve. New Jersey Turnpike motorists will be treated to free coffee at any of its 13 restaurants on New Year's Eve.

This marks the 21st consecutive year that Turnpike authorities have offered the coffee in an attempt to reduce alcohol and fatigue-related accidents. Free coffee will be offered from 9 p.m. to 7 a.m. December 31.

Signs will be placed in the restaurants in time for the New Year's program. Patrons who don't want coffee will be given tea or milk.

CHANGE IN NAME

For Nursery School. The Dutch Neck Co-Operative Nursery School of Princeton Junction has officially changed its name to The Princeton Junction Cooperative Nursery School.

The school opened its doors in February, 1960, at the Dutch Neck Presbyterian Church, with a full class of three- and four-year-olds. Over the years the school has changed location and grown.

The school is now housed in the same building as Fox and Lazo Realtors on the Princeton Hightstown Road in Princeton Junction. At the present time, the school has two three-year-old classes and two four-year-old classes.

For information regarding our school please call Mrs. Cindy Jacobetz, 443-6198, or Don Strasburger, 890-7817.

PROGRAMS LISTED

By South Brunswick Library. The South Brunswick Public Library will be offering several short courses during the upcoming winter months.

These will include "Living with the Alcoholic," to be held on Tuesdays, January 5 and 12 at 8 p.m., and "An In-Depth Look at Nutrition," to be presented Wednesdays, January 6, 13 and 20 at 8 p.m. Craft programs will include "Quilting for Beginners," to be held on Mondays in February and "Intermediate Quilting," which will be held on Mondays in March.

Tax information will be presented in a three-day training workshop in federal and state income tax preparation assistance and in a special program entitled, "How the New Tax Law Benefits You," both of which programs will be offered in January.

Pre-registration is necessary for all courses and other events. For further details and for registration call the library at (201) 821-8244.

TUTOR-FRIENDS SOUGHT

YWCA Offers Training. In response to the increasing number of foreign born who need and seek language assistance, the YWCA has established a Tutor Training Program.

This program has been successful in training lay tutors to work with the foreign born on a one-to-one basis in conversational English, but an increased number of tutors is needed. A new five session Tutor Training Program is scheduled for Monday through Friday, January 4-8 9:30-11:30 a.m. or 7:30'9:30 p.m. at the YM-YWCA.

Tutors need only the ability to speak, read and write English and a desire to teach. After the initial training, tutors will be expected to meet with students once or twice each week for one hour sessions at a mutually convenient time.

The fee for the five session Tutor Training Program is $25 and includes all teaching materials which were designed by Literacy Volunteers of America, Inc. For more information and to register for the course, call Arlene Berman, 924-5571.

CLASSES PLANNED

For SAT Preparation. The Rocky Hill Community Group will hold a series of classes to assist in the preparation for the winter and spring SAT and PSAT college entrance exams.

Classes will meet in the Rocky Hill Community House on Washington Street beginning Thursday, January 21, and continue through March 25 for 38 hours of instruction. Students will study Greek, Latin and Anglo-Saxon roots and prefixes. They will also learn various test-taking techniques and work with recent SAT exams as practice. Mastery of vocabulary will be stressed.

For further information, call instructor Joan Carris at 921-6206 after 5, or the Community Group registrar, Janet Sykes at 874-3251.

Public Library Has Many Books to Help Budding Writers

(From time to time, Caroline Champlin, of the Princeton Public Library staff, looks over the book-shelves with a selective eye and chooses titles that can be grouped into a category. Here, she talks about books that will help you become a writer.)

Whether you are writing a technical report or a novel, a business letter or a film-script, or are simply keeping a journal which no one but yourself will read, there are books to guide you. In a sense almost any book in a public library will be of some use to some writer somewhere because, next to writing itself, reading is probably a writer's best education.

But there are a lot of books aimed specifically at the craft and profession of writing, ranging from the inspirational sort that encourage would-be writers to stop dreaming and start producing, to "how-tos" for getting the completed manuscript into print. In between there is a wide variety geared for a particular genre — poetry, mystery, science fiction, technical, whatever. These books are being published in increasing numbers and those mentioned are just a few examples of what is available in the Princeton Public Library.

Each writer's requirements are different and a book that seems indispensable to one may be inappropriate for another, but certain books show up again and again on writers' bookshelves. One is "The Elements of Style" (1979) by William Strunk and E.B. White. Mercifully concise, only 85 pages long, this is the nuts and bolts primer that writers turn to when their grammar fails them.

Style is really an individual matter, but keys to the development of good style, plus interesting reading, can be found in H.W. Fowler's "Modern English Usage" (1965), Robert Graves' "The Reader Over Your Shoulder" (1979), and Herbert Read's "English Prose Style" (1952).

Beginning is frequently the greatest hurdle an aspiring writer can face. There is a short book called "Becoming a Writer" (1934, repr. 1981) by Dorothea Brande that clearly and simply lays down guidelines for establishing discipline and, contradictory as it may sound, generating inspiration. It is a heartening, down-to-earth book that will reassure those who think of writing as a mystery accessible only to the initiated.

Three successful novelists offer similar practical advice and encouragement to fiction writers. John Braine, author of "Room at the Top," uses examples from his own and others' work in "Writing a Novel" (1974) to explain the method he believes will produce a readable novel. In "Creating Short Fiction" (1981) 'Damon Knight, best known for his science fiction, teaches a structured, commercial approach and discusses writing pitfalls, ranging from the technical to the psychological. The third novelist, Lawrence Block, adapts his monthly columns in Writer's Digest Magazine to argue that fiction can by "Telling Lies for Fun and Profit" (1981).

The editor's point of view is obviously useful and there are three good books that give this perspective. Scott Meredith's "Writing to Sell" (1974), Hallie and Whit Burnett's "Fiction Writer's Handbook" (1975), and William Sloane's "The Craft of Writing" (1980) all present clear-eyed, pragmatic approaches to writing from a group of editors and publishers who have worked with major writers.

Few writers would deny that the business aspect of writing is important to them, and eventually each writer is going to have to decide where and in what form to send his or her manuscript. Ultimately, too, a writer hopes that the issue of a contract will arise. For these matters and more there are numerous manuals and guidebooks.

Free-lancers can turn to Nancy Hanson's "How You Can Make $20,000 a Year Writing" (1980) which argues that a free-lance writer must be business-like and organized as well as creative, an entrepreneur in fact. Judith Appelbaum and Nancy Evans' book "How to Get Happily Published" (1978) is another aggressive guide to getting into print. The authors describe in specific detail the ways in which writers can influence the fate of their work, from attracting the attention of an editor to, if need be, publishing themselves, and they give a substantial list of resources to which a writer can turn.

Then, there are two tools many writers find invaluable, "The Literary Marketplace" (1981) and "Writer's Market" (1982) both annual directories to the publishing world. "Writer's Market" is basically a subject guide to book publishers and magazines which helps writers choose the most appropriate place to submit their work; "Literary Market Place" lists publishers, editorial services, agents, prizes, and a host of other services useful to writers. There are two magazines for writers as well; "Writer's Digest" and "The Writer" both have, among other things, articles by writers, advice columns, and book reviews.

Reading what writers have said about their own writing can illuminate not only that particular writer's work but one's own as well. The Paris Review interviews, "Writers at Work," is a remarkable series that collects the diverse opinions and reflections of contemporary writers from all over the world. Reading writers' diaries and letters is another way of finding out how they think and work and the ways in which they transform their experiences. Virginia Woolf, Anais Nin, F. Scott Fitzgerald, Edmund Wilson — the list is endless and the reading endlessly fascinating.

Finally, a few words about what the library and librarians can do for writers. Damon Knight says it well: "Reference librarians are highly skilled and resourceful people; if what you want is available, they will show you where to find it. If they don't have a book, they will order it for you through the interlibrary loan service. This service is free, and it's like having your own personal book-hunting agent. If the book you want is a new one, you can put in a purchase request and very often the library will buy it." In other words, the Princeton Public Library exists to help you, writers and readers alike.

Garage Approval

go. She was vnted down. She moved to deny the drive-in at the John Street spot. She was voted down on that one, too.

Then board member Hans Sander roughed out what later became the conditions for Collins, relating to the bank. Following his suggestions, the board stipulated that the stair-tower of the garage be redesigned, leaving an eight-foot-wide space between John and the garage wall. The drive-in queue would be here, on Collins' private property, allowing rear delivery for shops.

A new plan, showing this design with attendant landscaping and possible gingko trees on the eight-foot space, will be drawn up and submitted for review to Borough engineer George Olexa and the board's planner, Paul Szymanski.

The board also said the drive-in is to be closed between 4:30 and 5:30 each day. The length of the allowed queue will be up to the Borough, but it can't go beyond the southernmost edge of the garage.

In addition, the board scaled down from 45 feet to 31 feet the peaked entrance-exit on Chambers.

The narrow walk-way serving the offices of the Woodrow Wilson National Fellowship Foundation, will be planted with trees, unless Collins can prove it can't be done. If Collins and Mr. Mihan cannot agree — he will own the property — the plan will be abandoned.

The area in question is near the present Kopp's Cycle Shop building, which Mr. Mihan will acquire in a land swap. It will probably be torn down to provide parking spaces. Board members learned that Kopp's will re-locate in an area near Craft Cleaners on Nassau.

Lighting must be so designed that it will not bother Palmer Square tenants. There must be enough lights for safety, and Collins must present a complete security plan to the Planning Board.

With approval in hand, Collins how has a firmer base from which to seek financing.

LET'S TALK ABOUT

ON THE TWELFTH DAY OF CHRISTMAS... with Sam De Turo
Woodwinds Associates

On the Twelfth Day of Christmas, there are many of us dyed-in-the-wool live tree proponents feeling just a little guilty as that beautiful, expensive "renewable resource" goes to the curb. Take heart! Your garden can truly give your tree second life.

You can use the tree as a mulch: cut off the boughs and place them, curved ends up, around planting beds when the ground is free of snow. This will help reduce ground temperature fluctuations which cause frost "heaving".

Or, construct a "teepee" of branches to help protect such tender plants as Laurel, Cotoneaster, and hybrid Azalea.

Or, strip the needles from branches and scatter them beneath such acid-loving plants as Azalea, Rhododendron, Andromeda, and Laurel.

WOODWINDS thinks the nicest thing you can do, however, is to use your tree as a bird feeder! Simply set it up right in your yard and tie pieces of suet, popcorn, or other food morsels to the outer branches, use dabs of peanut butter, too! Fir trees are ideal for this purpose, as they tend to hold their needles longer than other varieties. Remember to keep a pail of unfrozen water nearby, for birds must have water as well as food.

ALL OF US AT WOODWINDS WISH YOU AND YOURS THE HAPPIEST OF HOLIDAYS AND THE VERY BEST OF EVERYTHING IN THE NEW YEAR!

TEENAGERS SOUGHT

By YMCA Leadership Club. The YMCA has a national leadership training club for young poeple in 7th through 12th grades. Called The Leaders Club, it develops its own constitution and elects officers each year to conduct meetings.

Leaders Club members participate in YMCA-sponsored clinics, workshops and rallies on all phases of Y programming. In return, Club members use their newly acquired skills to volunteer at the Y in a wide variety of activities. The Club also plans its own social activities.

A highlight of the Leaders Club year is participation in PACCA, the annual Leadership Training School, which is five days of training in all aspects of Y programming. Club members conduct fundraisers during the year to meet the expenses of this event.

Teenagers who are interested in developing leadership skills and who are willing to make a commitment to the YMCA of Princeton are invited to join. For further information, call Emily Scott at the YMCA, 924-4497.

INVESTING IS TOPIC

At YMCA. The YMCA will offer a three-session course on the stock and bond markets in January. Led by Richard Roffis of Laidlaw, Adams and Peck, the course is entitled "Investing Today" and will be held on January 13, 20 and 27.

The course is intended as a primer in reading and understanding the financial pages and the basic skills of investing in the bond and stock markets. Class sessions will include discussion of investment strategies pertinent to the objectives of participants.

For more information and registration, call Emily Scott at the YMCA, 924-4497.

OPEN HOUSE SET

By Old Barracks Museum. The Old Barracks Museum on South Willow Street in Trenton will hold its annual Open House Days on Sunday and Wednesday, December 30.

Guides in 18th century costume will help visitors tour the landmark building and history museum free of charge on Sunday between 1 and 4:30 and on Wednesday, December 30, between 10 and 4:30. The museum will be festively decorated in traditional fashion by the Greenfingers Garden Club, and light refreshments will be served by the Old Barracks board of trustees.

Guests are also invited to view the Old Barracks Christmas tree and antique toy display. The tree was decorated with hand-made ornaments by children from the 4th and 5th grades of the Fisk School in Ewing Township.

ENGINEER NAMED

At Object Recognition Systems, George Chaikin of Lawrenceville has been appointed to the post of senior research engineer for Object Recognition Systems, Inc. (ORS).

ORS is engaged in the development and manufacture of automated visual inspection systems for industry, including vision modules for industrial robots. The business offices are located in New York City; the engineering and production facilities are located at 1101B State Road.

A prominent scientist and researcher in the field of artificial intelligence, Mr. Chaikin will be working on pattern recognition and robot vision systems at ORS. In his previous work he has made important contributions in the areas of pattern recognition, image processing and image synthesis.

In 1979 Mr. Chaikin began working at NASA's Goddard Institute for Space Studies doing research in satellite remote sensing and automated image interpretation. In 1975 he began his collaboration with Dr. Carl Weiman on a mathematical model of the human visual system for applications in computer vision and display technologies.

From 1973 to 1975, Mr. Chaikin worked in NYU's Computer Research Laboratory on computer graphics projects. During this period he developed the method of recursive subdivision for curve and surface generation which is today widely used in computer aided design and graphics. Mr. Chaikin's computer graphics appear in many museum print collections, and he has had several one-man shows in museums and art galleries.

In 1969 Mr. Chaikin received his undergraduate degree in architecture from The Cooper Union. In 1973 he received his M.S. in computer science from Pratt Institute.

CONTRACTS ANNOUNCED

By Gulton Division. The Luminator Division of Gulton Industries, Inc. has been awarded two contracts totalling in excess of $1 million.

Under terms of a contract with Grumman Fixibie, Luminator has supplied front and side electronic destination signs for 271 Model 870 buses purchased by New Jersey Transit. All the buses are expected to be in service by the end of December.

Under a second contract with London Transport, Luminator will provide interior lighting for 15 train sets of 6 cars each. The contract also has an option to provide lighting for an additional 13 train sets. This is the first significant sale of Luminator's lighting products to London Transport, and they will be installed on The Jubilee Line of the London underground, which opened with the celebration of Queen Elizabeth's 25th year of reign in 1977.

Luminator, a major supplier of lighting and electronic destination signs for public transportation, is located in Plano, Tex. Gulton Industries, a NYSE company headquartered in Princeton, specializes in electronic instrumentation and controls, communications equipment and power and lighting products. The company's basic markets are in the energy, commercial and consumer audio, metals and mining, public utility, aerospace, process control and transportation fields.

PERSONNEL NOTES

CUH2A, an architecture and engineering firm, has announced the promotion of Richard C. Barocca, AIA, Theodore A. Bell and Richard J. Hallowell, PE, to associates of the firm.

Mr. Barocca, a graduate of the University of Illinois and Princeton University, joined CUH2A in 1976. As project manager, he has been responsible for design, engineering coordination, code review, estimating and client communications. Projects Mr. Barocca has managed include a Quality Control Complex for E.R. Squibb & Sons, an aircraft fire test facility for the Federal Aviation Administration and a master plan for Exxon Biomedical Sciences.

A graduate of the New Jersey Institute of Technology, Mr. Bell has nine years experience as an electrical engineer working on a wide variety of projects. Among his projects at CUH2A are the design of a new

For the past two years, Mr. Bell has served as the project electrical engineer for the firm's work at Middlesex General Hospital.

Mr. Hallowell, a graduate of Drexel University, holds a B.S. degree in Mechanical Engineering. He has more than 20 years of experience in designing mechanical systems for residential, industrial, and high-rise office buildings, nursing homes, shopping schools, garages, and churches. He has been a pioneer in energy conservation measures related to new and existing buildings and is a proponent of the use of solar energy.

Robert Bezilla of State Road has been appointed vice president of the Gallup Organization.

Initially, Mr. Bezilla will concentrate on further developing the Gallup Organization's custom surveys. These surveys are commissioned for individual clients and reflect the diversity of Gallup activities in assessing the market for new products, measuring corporatex attitudes, surveying special publics, monitoring media trends and gaining insights to the thought of opinion leaders.

Mr. Bezilla has been in the survey research field for 17 years. He was president of Benson & Benson, Inc. since 1978 and a member of its board of directors since 1975. Prior to entering the research field, he was associated with the U.S. Army Security Agency and with the International Business Machines Corporation.

Dr. Gert P. Volpp of Poe Road, manager, Compound Product Acquisition, is a recipient of FMC's Special Patent Award. The Agricultural Chemical Group of FMC Corporation provides special recognition to the individuals who have 10 or more U.S. patents to their credit.

Dr. Volpp has had 14 U.S. patents issued to him in the ten-year period from 1968 to 1978. Many of these cover methods of preparation or identity of compounds useful for controlling microorganisms or weeds.

AD AGENCY FORMS NEW DIVISION: Dick Gillespie, left, president of Gillespie Advertising, has named Tim Turner director of marketing for Dow Jones Information Services, a division of the agency which will handle the advertising for Dow Jones cable news programming and news retrieval services.

FIRM SELECTED

To Promote Dow Services. Gillespie Advertising has been selected as the advertising agency for three services of Dow Jones, Inc., News-Retrieval Service, Cable Information Services and Cable News.

These services electronically provide computerized information from The Wall Street Journal, Barrons Financial Weekly, Dow Jones News and other national and international information providers.

Gillespie, which has already worked on special projects for all three services since early in the formation group, will now handle the national advertising and promotion.

2-Week Break Coming at Right Time for Tiger Basketball Team

For the first time since 1970 the Princeton basketball team will not play in any tournament during the holidays, and the resulting two-week break could not have come at a better time.

Between now and a Saturday, January 2 game with Seton Hall in South Orange, coach Pete Carril is sure to be pondering what he can do to insure more of the close ones go his way. The Tigers lost two more this past weekend by a total of five points, 39-38 to Brigham Young in Jadwin Friday night, and 59-55 to Ohio State the following evening at Madison Square Garden.

The two defeats left the Orange and Black with a 3-5 record, and it's not inconceivable that every one of those five could have ended up in the win column, had the Tigers not been guilty of some crucial mistakes in the final minutes.

Carill's players have been successful at forcing the bigger and more talented teams to play his slowdown brand of ball. The Tigers have been in every game to the end, but on the wrong end of the score more often than not.

"All of our games have been so close, those little things make the difference," commented Carril after the loss to Ohio State. Little things like a foul with two seconds left, a forced shot, a turnover have made the difference.

Carril would be overjoyed to find another guard under his Christmas Tree on Friday morning, but will have to settle for more improvement from freshman Jeff Pagano. "We need a sub for our guards," he said. "Bill Ryan and Gary Knapp just can't go the whole way. We could really use the kid, (Jeff) Pagano, but he didn't know what he was doing out there."

Pagano, who was impressive in pre-season scrimmages, had a hernia operation around Thanksgiving, and missed several games, playing for the first time Friday night. "Who knows how far along Pagano would have been if he had played from the beginning of the year," Carril observed.

What he didn't add was that his big man, Rich Simkus, has not been very effective so far either. Hampered for a while by a leg injury, Simkus' scoring and rebounding have both been below his averages of a year ago. He has missed several shots from in close, something the Tigers can ill-afford against bigger teams, where offensive rebounds are as rare as hen's teeth.

SPORTS In Princeton

Halftime Lead Lost. For the first 20 minutes Saturday night in the Garden, Princeton looked as if it had every intention of atoning for the last-second loss the 24 hours earlier.

Playing some of its best ball of the season, the Tigers worked their way to a 33-25 lead at the intermission. Too bad they had to stop and talk about it. Carril felt he must have said the wrong thing in the dressing room, or at least Buckeye coach Eldon Miller had the right words.

When play resumed, OSU ran off 10 straight points to take a 35-33 lead. The Tigers stayed close, but could not draw even until Gordon Enderle tied it at 41 apiece. The Buckeyes' all-American candidate Clark Kellogg then scored the next eight to make it 49-41, but again the Bengals clawed their way back to a 49-49 deadlock with 5:08 remaining.

OSU then scored the next six, and this time Princeton saw the clock run out before it could make up the difference. Simkus scored to make it 57-53 with 1:05 left, but then missed on a one-and-one situation that would have cut the lead to two.

An Enderle jumper made it 57-55 with three seconds left, but Ryan fouled on the inbounds pass, and OSU made both shots for the final margin of victory. Enderle's 22 points were a welcome sign that he is going to continue to be an offensive threat, but Robinson managed just nine, on three for 14 shooting from the field.

Costly Foul. Between now and the first week in March when the regular season ends, Princeton is due for a game-winning call by an official. Friday night for the second time in a little over a week, it lost on a last second foul shot.

The Fordham game was decided when Robinson was called for a foul on a rebound, and Brigham Young snuck away with a one-point win when Ryan was whistled for shoving while going for the ball on a missed shot.

With the score at 38-38, the Cougard held the ball for a last-second attempt. When it came, almost in desperation, with three seconds remaining, four players went up for the rebound, and Ryan was called for pushing Steve Trumbo.

The officials had to tell the 6'8,223-lb. Trumbo that he was the one who had been fouled by the 6'3, 180-lb. Ryan. But that didn't matter, nor did it matter that Trumbo was zero for five from the charity stripe up to that point. He sank his first shot to give BYU a one-point victory.

What did matter, was that the Tigers had had the ball earlier with 1:44 left and the score tied, but never got off a decent shot. Their wait for a good shot strategy went awry when Robinson tried to go inside with 1:27 left, but found himself hemmed in and tried to force a lay-up.

He was called for charging, instead, and the visitors got the ball back. the loss nullified a fine comeback by the Orange and Black against the Cougars in the second half.

Neither team played particularly well in the first 20 minutes. Princeton connected on less than a third of its shots from the floor (8 for 23) and was outrebounded, 18-7, but still hung in, as BYU turned the ball over 11 times. It led by just four, 22-18, at the intermission.

With about 13 minutes to play the winners opened up a 32-23 lead, but Princeton tied it at 34 apiece, and then at 38 all when Simkus hit on two free throws and Ryan threw in a 22-footer. BYU hit on just five of 12 shots in the second half, pressured by Princeton's defense right to the end.

Carril has already seen enough heartbreaking losses to fill a season, but the fiery coach has managed to keep his emotions under control at least as far as the refs are concerned. He has yet to be hit with his first technical.

Yale's Rich Diana Edges Bob Holly In Voting for Ivy Player of the Year

Rich Diana, Yale's fine running back has edged out Princeton's Bob Holly in the voting for the Asa S. Bushnell Cup, awarded annually to the Ivy League football player of the year.

The nation's fourth-leading rusher this fall, Diana received 26 points (based on 5 for first, 3 for second, and 1 for third) from the eight Ivy coaches, to 22 for the Tiger quarterback. Also receiving points were Harvard fullback Jim Callinan, 11; Brown tight end Steve Jordan, 9, Yale qoarterback John Rogan, 3; and Columbia linebacker Vince Pellini, 1. Diana had four first-place votes, Holly, two; and Callinan and Jordan, one each

Initiated in 1970 by the ECAC in honor of the late Asa S. Bushnell, a 1921 Princeton graduate who served as the conference's commissioner from 1938 to 1970, the award is based on "sportsmanship, leadership, competitive spirit, contribution to the team and accomplishments on the field."

Diana is the third consecutive Yale player to be named, and the fifth since the award's inception He led the league in rushing with 1,057 yards in seven games, and had 1,442 in all games, finishing behind Marcus Allen of USC, the Heisman trophy winner, Herschel Walker of Georgia, and Barry Redden of Richmond

The last Princeton player to win the award was Walt Snickenberger in 1974. Other winners included, Jim Chasey, Dartmouth; Ed Marinaro, Cornell, twice, Dick Jauron, Yale; Jim Stoeckel, Harvard, Doug Jackson, Columbia, John Pagliaro, Yale, twice; Buddy Teevens, Dartmouth; Tim Tumpane, Yale, and Kevin Czinger, Yale

Diana beat out Holly in voting for ECAC Division I player of the year also.

Hockey Team Earns 5-5 Deadlock with Harvard; Key Ivy Contests with Brown, Cornell Lie Ahead

It's too early to tell whether the Princeton hockey team's 5-5 tie with Harvard Saturday night in Baker Rink will play a significant part in the Ivy League race, but it is certain the Tigers have never worked harder for the one point in the standings that tie represents.

Coupled with a victory over Yale, Princeton has three points, good for a tie for first with the Crimson, but Harvard has also lost a game to Brown. The Tiger's next league game will come against Brown, Saturday, January 9 at Baker, to be followed by one against Cornell at home, Monday, January 25.

The Orange and Black must win both to have a logical shot at finishing atop the league standings for the first time since 1953. Before the Ivy contests, the Bengals will play a pair of games against Minnesota, Saturday and Sunday, January 2 and 3 in Minneapolis.

The tie against Harvard, the second this season, gives Princeton a 3-4-2 mark as it breaks for the holidays. The Tigers did not tie a game either of the past two seasons, and the one with Harvard is the first in league play for Princeton since 1978-79 when they also tied the Cantabs, 7-7 here.

Tie Not Disappointing. It's always a little frustrating to have two teams play 70 minutes of fast-pace hockey and not produce a decision, but the 5-5 deadlock with Harvard hardly left the same bitter aftertaste as the 17-17 tie in football this fall.

This was a good Harvard team that came into Baker Rink with victories over New Hampshire and Providence among others, and the Orange and Black did well to rally from deficits of 3-0 and 4-1. Its greatest achievement, however, came in the 10-minute overtime session, when it killed a four-minute Harvard power play.

The first period belonged to the Crimson, which outshot the Tigers 17-7, and registered three goals in the process. Shayne Kukolowicz tallied the first at 11:56 when he knocked in a rebound. Forty seconds later Greg Olson fired a 35-foot shot past Ron Dennis, and less than two minutes later Greg Chalmers made it 3-0 when he scored on a rebound of a shot by Jay North at 14:05.

The Tigers broke into the scoring column 44 seconds into the second period on a power play goal by Paul Matthews, who deflected in a shot by defenseman Rob Scheurer. Harvard tallied its fourth goal three seconds shy of the 10-minute mark.

Down by 4-1, the Bengals made good on a two-man advantage, when Jim Matthews beat goalie Wade Lau, who had blocked several good shots up to that point. Keith Benker picked up an assist.

Todd Hewett made it 4-3 at 15:30, assisted by Tom Shustarich, and with just two ticks left on the clock in the period, Ross Lambert knotted the score at 4-4.

When Ray Casey beat Lau with a superb effort down the right side at 5:07, the Tigers led for the first time in the contest, but the advantage disappeared shortly. Benker was tagged with a questionable interference call, and the Crimson made good on the resulting opportunity at 7:29.

The rest of the period was scoreless, and so was the 10-minute extra session. Princeton's ability to score in the overtime was limited when sophomore defenseman Rich Valdarchi was hit with a double minor, two minutes for interference, and two more tacked on for unsportsmanlike conduct. Coming at 5:23, the penalties left the Tigers a man down until just 37 seconds remained in the contest. However, they did a fine job of killing off Harvard's advantage, allowing the Crimson few chances to set up.

Under the circumstances, a 5-5 tie was not hard to take.

COLGATE BEATS TIGERS

In Hockey, 7-3. A fast-skating, opportunistic Colgate team, definitely one of the best in the East this winter, charged by Princeton, 7-3, in Baker Rink Monday night.

The visitors provided an indication of things to come four and a half minutes into the first period, when they had a breakaway against Tiger goalie Ron Dennis. He turned this one aside, but two minutes later Denis Lapensee went in on Dennis alone and flipped the puck by him.

The Raiders tallied again at 15:43 on the rebound of a long shot that bounced off the boards behind the cage and right to a Colgate skater. In the second period, the winners tallied four more times to just once for the Tigers to put the contest out of reach.

After notching their third at 4:29, the Raiders tallied twice in 45 seconds, the first on another breakaway, during a power play, the second on a three on one opportunity.

Rich Valdarchi made it 5-1 at 11:56 with the Tigers a man up, assisted by Ross Lambert and Ed Lee. Colgate got that back at 18:46, scoring its second power play goal.

Todd Hewett and Dave Clark set up Lee for his first of the night early in the final period, but Colgate answered with its seventh on a two on one situation.

Lee closed out the scoring at 18:31 with his second, on passes from Bill Beard and Lambert. The contest was filled with penalties on both sides, but they had no effect on the outcome. Ray Casey was disqualified in the second period for spearing, and will miss the Tigers' next game.

Dennis made 29 saves; Colgate's Jeff Cooper, 32. The loss dropped the Orange and Black to 3-5-2 this season. Colgate is 8-3, having lost to Clarkson twice and Yale.

Wardlaw last week for a 4-2 record.

"Hopefully, we'll get back on track," said first-year coach Dave Faus, but the Raider's four wins is already within two of the total Hun won last season and Faus conceded that "things look pretty good."

Faus reports that he will take a contingent of seven wrestlers into the Mercer County Tournament next week at Steinert High. His is the first year that prep schools in the area have been allowed to participate in the event. It will, noted Faus, give Hun an opportunity to see how it compares with other mat teams in the county.

It was not hard to find a reason why Hun lost 42-18 to Peddie and 48-18 to Wardlaw on Friday. School had ended the previous day for the holiday break and four of Faus's starters had left for home.

As a result, Hun entered each meet 24 points in the hole. "It was a shame," agreed Faus. "The guys who went didn't wrestle well; they knew what was going on and it was hard for them to get psyched up ... but we can't make too many excuses."

Against Peddie, co-captain Scott Crater pinned his 138-pound opponent in 3:05 and sophomore Chris Black remained undefeated (8-0) with a 4:50 pin in his 167-pound match.

Against Wardlaw, freshman Jeff Silver, making his first start on the mat for Hun, made it an impressive one with a pin in 54 seconds. Crater got another pin in 1:22 at 138 pounds while Black and John Crater (145 pounds) both won decisions.

Earlier in the week, against New Hope-Solebury High School, a new school, Hun won easily, 39-15, racking up 25 points on five pins.

Veteran 119-pounder Rick Gallin flattened his opponent in 1:19; Larry Falls had a 2.59 fall at 132 pounds; Scott Crater had the fastest pin in 1:13; Black got his in 4:40 and junior transfer student Yawan Kayali from Madrid recorded his second pin in the heavyweight class with a fall in 2:27.

2nd TITLE IN A ROW

For Sweet Jersey Corn. For the second year in a row, Sweet Jersey Corn has won the championship of the Mercer County Women's Soccer League. The Corn shutout Bottoms Up, 4-0, in its final game to end unbeaten with eight wins and two ties.

After a scoreless first half, the Corn unleashed 22 shots on goal in the second half, four finding the mark. Debbie Breithaupt broke the deadlock with a goal twelve minutes into the third period on an assist from Maureen Nosal. Anne Knudson-Fitzpatrick scored the next two and Cathy Taleric closed out the Corn scoring with a shot right from front of the goal with ten minutes remaining. For goalie Sallie Toscano, it was her sixth shutout of the season.

The Corn dominated play in the league, as it outscored its opponents, 41-7, and outshot them, 256-82. Toscano rejected 75 of the 82 shots she faced. In non-league play, Sweet Jersey Corn was 2-1-2, including a win over the Princeton University's Women's Soccer Club.

Leading the team in scoring with nine goals was Carey Crutcher, a newcomer who had played on the Princeton University soccer team. Three were tied at seven apiece: Anne Knudson-Fitzpatrick, owner of the Princeton Nautilus Fitness Center; Cathy Taleric, last year's second high scorer, and Clare Baxter, last year's high scorer and league Most Valuable Player. Baxter, who missed the last few games with an ankle injury, set a team record of 14 goals overall this season.

Debbie Breithaupt accounted for five goals, four in one game. The tenacious Corn defense, contributed five goals, as Lisa Jablonski, Maureen Nosal, Kathy Shillaber, Marianne Smith and Harriet Staub all scored.

The contributions of new players Nancy Balmer, who played at Florida State University, and Allison Hughes, who played at Princeton University, were significant all season, according to coach Steven Cohen and his assistant Bob Smyth. They also cited the aggressive style of play of fullbacks Michelle Morgan, Karen Petruska and Elizabeth Zingg who consistently took the ball away from the opposing teams forward line.

HUN WINS TWO MORE

Court Start is 5-0. Off to its best start in years with a 5-0 record, the Hun School basketball team will be a favorite to win its second tournament this month when it competes in the Pennington Tournament.

In the opening round Tuesday, Hun will oppose Wardlaw at 6:30, while host Pennington will face Princeton Day School at 8. The following night, the winners will meet at eight and the losers will battle for third place in the consolation round starting at 6:30.

An improving Hun defense, the added composure from a year's experience and the shooting of post-graduate player Mark Murphy from West Windsor, combined again for a pair of victories last week. Murphy's appearance in the line up gives Hun an added dimension, according to coach Bob Hendricson.

Murphy's 25 points and 18 more by 6'3 center Andy Marlatt, who also pulled down 17 rebounds, led the Raiders to a 61-51 victory Friday over Rutgers Prep. Jon Tesser and Kris Wronski combined for 16 more points to account for all but two of Hun's total. Hun led 32-21 at the intermission.

Murphy 11 of 15. Murphy was the dominant force again in a 64-58 win over Lawrence High earlier in the week. Murphy connected on 11 of 15 shoots from the floor, pulled down five rebounds and scored all nine Hun points in the third period when the Cardinals managed to cut a 16-point deficit to ten.

When Hun's margin had reached 16, Hendrickson observed after the game, "We became too complacent. We became so concerned with keeping their big men from getting the ball that we let their outside shooting hurt us.

"We just didn't have enough to stop Murphy," commented Lawrence coach George Breza.

Wronski contributed 17 points to the Hun attack and Marlatt had another good game with 12. Hun converted 14 of 20 foul shots which proved to be the difference as both teams had 25 field goals.

Dwayne Brewton and Eric Wright led the Cardinals with 19 and 18 points respectively.

PHS MATMEN SPLIT

First Two Meets. Two days after it had lost a 39-18 opening meet to Freehold, the Princeton High wrestling team under new coach Larry DiPano bounced back to defeat North Brunswick Monday, 37-27.

After the opening loss, DiPano had commented that if his team tried to adapt to the new style he is attempting to establish and if it could eliminate what he termed were bad habits," then I think we'll be okay. I feel we have the potential to have a good team."

The Little Tigers appear to be quick learners. One thing DiPano didn't receive in the opener that he had been counting on — some victories in the upper weights — he received against North Brunswick and that turned the tide.

Princeton's 155-pounder, Adam Cote, pinned Tom Sacchetti in 52 seconds. Ralph Carnevale followed with a pin in 66 seconds at 167 pounds. Paul Knoepflmacher sealed it with a pin in 1:40 over the visitor's Pete Januska in their 185-pound match for 18 quick points. PHS also got a pin from veteran Nick Hastings in 4:32 at 112 pounds.

Josh Miller recorded a superior, 15-3 decision over Brunswick's Tom Januska at 119 pounds. Capturing decisions for the Little Tigers, who will participate in the annual Mercer County Tournament December 30 at Steinert High, were Dave Schwartz, the freshman 98-pounder, who shut out his opponent, 4-0, and Brian O'Grady, who fashioned a major, 9-0, win over Rich Newman in their 132-pound match.

North Brunswick scored pins at 105 pounds, 138, 145 and heavyweight.

Score Tied 18-18. After the 132-pound match against Freehold Boro, which Princeton's O'Grady won with a 9-1 decision over Ted Burke, DiPano began to feel his team was in a solid position to win the match because be had some tested wrestlers coming up in Cote and Carnevale.

Clark Lippincott, wrestling his first match ever, took an early 2-0 lead over Kerry Obelander but got pinned in the second period. After Freehold forfeited the 145-pound match, the score was tied at 18. PHS, however, failed to score another point.

Cote, like Lippincott, took an early lead with a takedown. "He had his kid on his back but just outside the line and got no back points," sighed DiPano. Tim Parrish then came on to pin Cote in 4:17. "He just got caught fighting off a takedown; he held on too long," said DiPano.

Ralph Carnevale followed with a mirror performance: ahead 3-1 early in the match, then fighting off a takedown to the point he was on his back and pinned in 2:48. "All three were ahead and fighting off takedowns when they were pinned and that was it. It was like deja vu," said DiPano.

"He Did His Job." Ernest Pirone was pinned by Freehold's 185-pounder in 2:36 and heavyweight Steve Ellis lost a 9-1 decision. "He did his job, he didn't get pinned. He didn't give up," said DiPano of Ellis, who was wrestling in his first match ever.

Schwartz had gotten PHS off to a 5-0 start when he overwhelmed Freehold's Tim Tully, 19-0, in their 98-pound match. "He wrestled tough, he looked good," said DiPano. Princeton's other points, aside from O'Grady's major decision was a 6-1 decision by Josh Miller over Steve Kinder in the 119-pound class. "Miller," said DiPano, "wrestled a very smart match move-wise."

The one disappointment, recalled DiPano, was Hastings' 3-2 loss to Dave Tully of Freehold at 112 pounds. "He gave his match away," said DiPano. "Tully couldn't hold him down, but he didn't shoot a takedown the entire match."

PROGRAM TO BEGIN

in Women's Basketball. The Princeton Recreation Department will begin its 1982 recreational basketball program January 19 at the John Witherspoon School.

Bob Smyth, coach of several women's sports teams in the area and former member and chairman of the Recreation Board, will supervise the progam. It is for women 16 or older from the Borough and Township and is designed to provide exercise, basic skills and instruction, pickup games and the possible formation of an informa league.

Those interested should go to the John Witherspoon School between 7 and 9 p.m. on the 19th. There is no fee. For further information call Kathy West of the Recreation Department at 921-9480 or Mr. Smyth at night at 821-6198.

PSA TEAM HERE TO PLAY

In Brendon Byrne Arena. On December 29, 17 players from the Princeton Soccer Association traveling team will play an exhibition game in the Brendon Byrne Arena prior to the Cosmos game against Jacksonville. Comprised of boys 11-12, the Princeton team will oppose a team from the Edison-Mecutchen league.

Players from this area are Richard Webb, Chris Hunt, Lamhros Xethalis, Billy Kearney, David Bivins, Jeremey Wallack, Matt Hullt, Jacopo Mazzucato, Henry Rollman, Doug Gibson, Thad Reynolds, John Sheehan, Brian Ballard, Michael Hunninghake, Dan Shidlovsky, Justin Harding, and John Stefanchik. The coach is Frank Wayno who has been coaching PSA soccer for four years.

Tickets to the Cosmos game are avalable at the World Cup store in the Quaker Bridge Mall at $9.50 for adults and $7 for children.

REGISTRATION SET

For Pink Panther Basketball. The Pink Panther Girls Basketball League will begin it's fifth season January 23 from 9 to 10:30 a.m. in the John Witherspoon School Gymnasium.

All interested girls between 9-12, who reside or attend school in Princeton, must register by Friday, January 8. The fee is $8. Registration forms will be distributed to the physical education teachers and may also be obtained at the Recreation Department in the Township Hall Annex.

Adult volunteers are still needed for coaching. Those interested should call the Recreation Department at 921-9480 or Mrs. Kera Herzog, 921-1749.

PHS BOWS, 54-23

In Girls Court Opener. Hamilton limited the Princeton High School girls basketball team to five points in the first period and two in the third to spoil the Little Tigers' home opener last week, 54-23.

Tracy Quinn and Patty Helmlinger combined for 33 points as the Hornets won their second easily without a loss. Monica Greenland was high for PHS with seven, followed by Lynn Abernathy who added six points.

Princeton's second game with town rival Princeton Day School last Wednesday was cancelled when the two schools closed because of the season's first snow storm. It will not be rescheduled. The Little Tigers will not resume until January 5 when they play McCorristin away.

PHS FIVE IDLE

Until January 4. Two years ago, the last time the Princeton High School basketball team participated in a Christmas holiday tournament, the Little Tigers played seven games in December.

This December, following the cancellation of last week's scheduled game with Somerville because of the snow storm, PHS will play only one — its home opener, which it lost to Franklin.

PHS athletic director Carol Parsons has exchanged some open dates available in January with her counterpart in Somerville in an attempt to reschedule the contest with the Pioneers, but right now, she said, "it doesn't look all that good."

PHS will resume action on January 4 when it plays host to Trenton High.

Happy Holidays!

This week we will postpone our article on women and high intensity exercise and help you lose some unwanted Holiday Body Fat!

First, take our pinch test. Using thumb and forefinger, pinch as much skin and fat as possible on the back of the upper arm midway between shoulder and elbow, the left side of your waist and the middle point of your left thigh. Measure with a ruler between the fingertips and the nearest quarter of an inch. If the sum of all 3 is two inches or less, you can eat those christmas cookies, but if it's more you must read on

There is no quick and easy way to lose body fat. By reducing your calories each day by 500 you will lose one pound of fat a week. The effective way to lose fat and to keep it off is to eat three small, balanced meals a day, emphasize the bread/cereal and fruit/vegetable groups.

We want to help you control your hunger during this holiday season. There are three physiological systems involved in hunger: the brain, the gut, and the endocrine systems. We can control these systems by mental, physical and social control. Here's how

The hypothalamus is the control center of your brain. Among other things, it controls your body temperature. We can persuade the brain that the body is being fed by turning up our body heat. You can do this by eating or drinking something hot, wear extra clothing, stay in a warm room when indoors and don't allow yourself to shiver—keep warm.

We can "trick" the hypothalamus another way by persuading it that there is more oxygen in the body tissues than there really is—oxygen being a result of food consumption—by simply exercising. If you're hungry, take a walk!

By using the second system, the gut, in defense against hunger, we can trick it by eating large amounts of low calorie food like salads and vegetables. The hotter the food, the better. Hot soup or hot tea. You'll feel full

The last system, the endocrine, pervades your entire body and reinforces the brain and the gut. We must fool it to control your hunger. Start your meal with something sweet, follow with a salad and proceed to eat the rest of your meal. Drink plenty of water while you eat. Not only does water fill your stomach, but by staying well-hydrated, you improve your ability to lose fat. Watch your carbohydrate intake. Fat burns best and fastest in presence of carbohydrates and also decreases the risk of deteriorating your necessary lean body tissue. A well-balanced fat reducing diet should contain at least 50 percent carbohydrates

If you must overeat while attending a gala holiday dinner party, do it on an empty stomach. Mental and physical appetite control is best achieved and reinforced by social contacts. At Princeton Nautilus Fitness Center, our members take their bodies seriously. We reduce our body fat and tone up our flabby muscles together on individual fitness programs!

It is not easy to modify your lifestyle in the attempt to reduce body fat and improve your fitness level (especially during the holidays). It takes discipline, patience and an understanding of how your body works

BUT vibrant health and being physically fit (hence mentally fit) is well worth it! You'll be a better you!

Have a wonderfully Healthy and Happy Holiday

* OUR PROMISE TO PRINCETON CONSUMERS:

IF YOU HAVE A COMPLAINT against any local business firm, just call 924-8223 and a Consumer Bureau representative will investigate and mediate, then, if you are not satisfied and

IF CONSUMER BUREAU'S ALL-CONSUMER PANEL AGREES that your complaint is valid, the business firm involved has only two choices either satisfy your complaint promptly or lose its Consumer Bureau Registration

YOU CAN CHECK by phone any time you like whether any local business firm you name is Consumer Bureau Registered

(Not all reliable local firms are Registered but for every Registered firm we have been obliged to take off our Register ten times that number of UnRegistered firms have failed to meet our standards of reliability.)

Christmas Day Religious Services Are Scheduled by Area Churches

Christmas will be celebrated in Princeton area churches in services of candlelight and carols amidst decorations of evergreens and poinsettia. Beginoing Christmas Eve, the familiar story of the nativlty will be retold in lessons and tableaux highlighted with special Christmas music.

Trinity Church, 33 Mercer Street, will celebrate Christmas Eve with a Christmas Service for children and their families at 5 p.m., a Festival Service of Holy Eucharist at 8 p.m. and the traditional Christmas Eve Midnight Festival Eucharist beginning at 11 p.m.

Congregational singing of traditional carols will be a feature of all services. At the 8 p.m. Eucharist the Trinity Adult Choir, and the Junior and Senior Girls' Choirs will sing carol arrangements by Johann Walther and David Willcocks.

At the midnight Eucharist, the Trinity Choir of Men, Boys and Girls will sing the motet, "Quem vidistis pastores" by Richard Deering as well as carols arranged by Peter Hurford and Monteverdi. James Litton and Irene Willis will play Christmas organ works by Van Hulse, Langlais, D'Aquin and Bach.

RELIGION

In Princeton

The Christmas Day celebration of the Holy Eucharist with Carol singing will be at 10 a.m. Organ music by Vaughan Williams, Bach and D'Aquin will be played by James Litton.

On the Sunday after Christmas, December 27, the 9:15 Eucharist will include carol singing, and the 11 a.m. service will be a Festival Service of Lessons and Carols to be held at the Princeton University Chapel.

On Christmas Eve at 5, the Senior High Fellowship of Nassau Presbyterian Church, will present the Story of the Nativity in silent tableaux, accompanied by the childrens' choirs and familiar carols sung by the congregation.

After the service, everyone is invited to light a candle in front of the church and walk into Palmer Square to join the community caroling. At 10 p.m. there will be a service of lessons and music. Bell choirs will ring on the front steps preceding the service. The lessons will be read by the Rev. Dr. Wallace Alston, Jr., the Rev. Dr. Donald Mackenzie, Jr., and the Rev. Cynthia Jarvis, the pastors of the church. Dr. Kenneth B. Kelley will direct the Adult Choir which will be accompanied by a brass quartet aod harp.

The community is invited.

A candlelight service of lessons and carols will be held at Christ Congregation on Christmas Eve from 8:30 to 9:30. Led by Co-pastors Margot and Mark Pickett, the service will include a Love Feast in the Moravian tradition.

Earlier in the evening there will be caroling (meet at the church at 7 p.m.), followed by warm refreshments at the church between 8 and 8:30.

Christ Congregation is on the corner of Walnut and Houghton near Princeton High School

There will be two services Christmas Eve at All Saints' Episcopal Church, All Saints Road. A Family Eucharist at 8 p.m. will be preceded by a half hour concert beginning at 7:30. Christmas carols will be sung by the congregation, and special anthems by the All Saints' Girls Choir.

A Solemn Eucharist will be celebrated at 11 p.m. preceded by a half-hour concert beginning at 10:30 when portions of Handel's Messiah will be sung by the All Saints' Adult Choir.

On Christmas Day, there will be a service of Holy Eucharist at 10 a.m. at All Saints' with musical offerings by Susan Robinson, alto, and Lois Laverty, soprano. The Rev. Al Orley Swartzentruber is rector.

The Rev. Frederick Borsch, Dean of the Princeton University Chapel, will lead a community Christmas Eve service on Thursday at 8 p.m. The service will feature Christmas music by the Princeton Day School Madrigal Singers, under the direction of Frank Jacobson, and dancing by the Princeton Ballet Society choreographed by Sherry Alban. Graduate student Nathan Randall will be the organist.

On Christmas Day, Dean Borsch will lead a service of Holy Communion at 9 a.m. The services are open to the public and everyone is invited.

There will be a Christmas Eve Candlelight Service Thursday at 7:30 p.m. at the Princeton United Methodist Church, Nassau Street and Vandeventer Avenue. The Rev. James Harris and the Rev. Carol Brandt will lead the service.

The Lutheran Church of the Messiah, Nassau Street and Cedar Lane, will hold two services on Christmas Eve. There will be a Children's Service at 7 p.m. and a Communion Service at 11 p.m. On Christmas Day there will be a Festival Service at 10 a.m.

The Rev. Dick Sherlock of East Windsor will give the sermon Sunday at 10 at Christ Congregation, Walnut Lane and Houghton Street. Mr. Sherlock is an ordained minister in the United Church of Christ and a lawyer who joined the firm of Smith Stratton Wise and Heher this fall. Before coming to Princeton he served a UCCC church in Rutherford.

The Unitarian Church, Cherry Hill and State Roads, will hold two services on Christmas Eve. The first service at 5:30 will be for families, especially for young children and their families and will be led by Cynthia Ward. There will be Christmas songs and stories (one with a pageant) and the lighting of candles for new babies in the church in 1981.

Dr. Edward Frost, minister, will conduct the second service at 8:30. There will be music by an instrumental group and carol singing, and Dr. Frost will read Richard Burton's "A Christmas Story," the story of Burton's childhood in Wales a la Dylan Thomas.

The Princeton Presbyterian Church, which meets in the American Boychoir School on Lambert Drive, will celebrate Christmas with caroling in the Library Place area on Christmas Eve from 7:30 to 8:30.

The Sunday morning worship service is at 11 a.m. at the Boychoir School, with an evening service at 6.

The Prince of Peace Lutheran Church in Princeton Junction will have services at 7 and 11 on Christmas Eve with both services cooducted in candlelight.

The junior and senior choirs will sing at the 7 p.m. service under the direction of choir director Jan Oesterling. Karlfried and Riccarda Froehlich will accompany the junior choir on recorders.

The 11 p.m. service will be preceded by a 15-minute prelude of selected music from Handel's Messiah featuring soloists by Tom Oesterling, Rev. Frederick Schott, Christy Sexton and Pam Teske.

Everyone is welcome. The Rev. Frederick Schott is pastor.

ORGANIST TO PERFORM

At Witherspoon Church. The Witherspoon Street Presbyterian Church will hold its Christmas Morning Worship and Communion Service at 8:30 Friday morning. A special feature of the service will be the opportunity to hear Bryan T. Mitnaul, son of Mrs. Doris Mitnaul, perform Christmas music on the new organ.

The public is invited.

TO PRESENT SERVICE

In University Chapel. There will be a Festival Service of Lessons and Carols Sunday at 11 at the Princeton University Chapel. The four choirs of Trinity Church will sing traditional and modern Christmas carols on the first Sunday of Christmas

By invitation from the University Chapel Choir, Prof. Walter Nollner, director, and the Dean of the Chapel, The Rev. Frederick Borsch, the Trinity Choirs, Trinity clergy and lay readers from the church and University will proclaim the Christmas story in scripture and in carols.

The combined choirs of 150 voices, conducted by James Litton with Irene Willis at the organ, will sing traditional English, Polish, and French and American Carols, as well as carol arrangements and modern carols by Sir David Willcocks, John Rutter and Healey Willan. The carols will be sung following each reading in the service.

At various points in the service, the congregation will join the choirs in singing favorite Christmas hymns and carols. As a prelude to the service, Mrs. Willis will play the "Carillon de Westminster" by Louis Vierne, and James Litton will play a French organ Noel as a postlude.

All are invited.

BULLETIN NOTES

All Saints' Church, All Saints' Road, will hold a Christmas Homecoming Feast Sunday at 10 a.m. in place of the forums and classes. This is an informal reception particularly designed for the young people of the parish who are home from school and college or who have returned for the holidays from a job.

That evening, there will be a potluck supper at 6 following Evening Prayer at 5:30 at All Saints'. The supper will be followed by a Carol Sing.

Margaret Payne and Rev. Paul Strockbine will conduct the 11 a.m. service Sunday at the Prince of Peace Lutheran Church in Princeton Junction

The Rev. Frederick Schott, pastor, is on vacation in South Carolina. All are welcome to the service. For information, call 924-6078.

The two-part film "From Joy and Beyond," a biography of C.S. Lewis, will be shown at Princeton Presbyterian Church on two consecutive Sunday evenings at 6. Part I will be shown this week and part II on Sunday, January 3. The Church meets at the American Boychoir School on Lambert Drive off Rosedale Road.

All are invited. For further information call 921-1020.
